REWRITE THE PARAGRAPH WITH PRONOUNS

Name: ..... Date: .....

This paragraph repeats the names Maya, Rex and Leo far too often. Rewrite it on the lines, using pronouns (she, he, it, they, him, them, his) wherever the meaning stays clear. Keep the first sentence as it is.

Maya has a dog named Rex. Maya walks Rex every morning. Rex likes to chase birds, but Rex never catches the birds. Maya's brother Leo sometimes comes along. Leo throws a ball, and Rex brings the ball back to Leo. After the walk, Maya gives Rex a treat, and Rex wags Rex's tail. Maya and Leo think Rex is the best dog in town.

YOUR REWRITE

REWRITE THE PARAGRAPH WITH PRONOUNS ANSWER KEY

Name: ..... Date: .....

This paragraph repeats the names Maya, Rex and Leo far too often. Rewrite it on the lines, using pronouns (she, he, it, they, him, them, his) wherever the meaning stays clear. Keep the first sentence as it is.

Maya has a dog named Rex. Maya walks Rex every morning. Rex likes to chase birds, but Rex never catches the birds. Maya's brother Leo sometimes comes along. Leo throws a ball, and Rex brings the ball back to Leo. After the walk, Maya gives Rex a treat, and Rex wags Rex's tail. Maya and Leo think Rex is the best dog in town.

MODEL ANSWER (OTHER CORRECT VERSIONS ARE POSSIBLE)

Maya has a dog named Rex. She walks him every morning. He likes to chase birds, but he never catches them. Maya's brother Leo sometimes comes along. He throws a ball, and Rex brings it back to him. After the walk, Maya gives Rex a treat, and he wags his tail. They think he is the best dog in town.

Notice that "Maya" and "Rex" are kept once each in the middle so the reader never loses track of who is who. Too many pronouns is a mistake too.

For non-commercial, education use only