FEELING AND PROBLEM

Name: ..... Date: .....

Color both thermometers after something goes wrong: how big the feeling was, and how big the problem was. They do not always match, and noticing the gap is the skill.

HOW I FELT

5 — Out of control
I cannot stop my body. Shouting, throwing, running off.

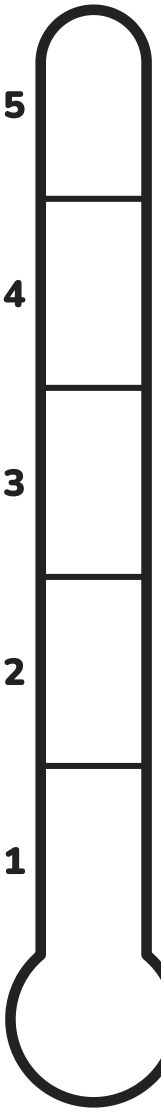

4 — Very upset
Hot face, shaking hands, loud voice, I want to leave or push.

3 — Upset
Fast heart, tight fists, bigger voice, hard to think straight.

2 — A little bothered
Fidgety, sighing, short answers. Something is not right.

1 — Calm
Loose body, easy breathing, ready to listen and work.

HOW BIG THE PROBLEM WAS

5 — Emergency
Someone is hurt or in danger. Get help right away.

4 — Big problem
I cannot fix this. An adult has to help now.

3 — Medium problem
I need an adult to help me sort it out.

2 — Small problem
I can try first, then ask for help if I need it.

1 — Tiny problem
Annoying, but I can fix it myself and move on.

What happened

_____

_____

If my feeling was bigger than the problem, what could I try next time

_____

A size-3 feeling about a size-1 problem is not wrong, and it is not something to argue about in the moment. Fill this in later, when the child is calm, and look for the problems that keep showing up.

For non-commercial, education use only