HAPPY, HAPPIER, HAPPIEST

Name: ..... Date: .....

All twelve of these adjectives end in a consonant plus y, so the same rule applies: change the y to i, then add -er for more and -est for the most. Fill in both columns.

Say it to check. Happy becomes happ-i-er, not "happyer". The y had been saying long e; once it turns into an i it keeps that same long e sound, which is why the word still sounds right.

Word	more (-er)	the most (-est)
1. happy
2. funny
3. sunny
4. tiny
5. easy
6. busy
7. pretty
8. early
9. heavy
10. lucky
11. silly
12. angry

Longer adjectives do not use -er at all: it is more beautiful, not "beautifuler". The -er and -est endings belong to short words, which is most of the y adjectives in English.

For non-commercial, education use only

HAPPY, HAPPIER, HAPPIEST ANSWER KEY

Name: ..... Date: .....

All twelve of these adjectives end in a consonant plus y, so the same rule applies: change the y to i, then add -er for more and -est for the most. Fill in both columns.

Say it to check. Happy becomes happ-i-er, not "happyer". The y had been saying long e; once it turns into an i it keeps that same long e sound, which is why the word still sounds right.

Word	more (-er)	the most (-est)
1. happy	happier	happiest
2. funny	funnier	funniest
3. sunny	sunnier	sunniest
4. tiny	tinier	tiniest
5. easy	easier	easiest
6. busy	busier	busiest
7. pretty	prettier	prettiest
8. early	earlier	earliest
9. heavy	heavier	heaviest
10. lucky	luckier	luckiest
11. silly	sillier	silliest
12. angry	angrier	angriest

Longer adjectives do not use -er at all: it is more beautiful, not "beautifuler". The -er and -est endings belong to short words, which is most of the y adjectives in English.

For non-commercial, education use only