BREAK TALLY: ONE DAY

Name: ..... Date: .....

One school day, six parts. Put a mark in the first column every time the child asks for a break, in the second every time one was actually given, and in the third when you offered a break before they asked. The gap between column one and column two is the number that matters.

Student ..... Date .....

PART OF THE DAY	BREAKS ASKED FOR	BREAKS GIVEN	BREAKS I OFFERED FIRST	WHAT HAPPENED JUST BEFORE
Arrival
Morning work
Recess
Lunch
Afternoon work
End of day

Asked ..... Given ..... Offered .....

Asked more than given means the card is being ignored, and it will stop being used within a week. Six or seven breaks in a day is normal while a child is learning; it drops on its own once they trust it.

For non-commercial, education use only