MY THERMOMETER

Name: ..... Date: .....

Five levels from calm at the bulb to out of control at the top. Find the level that matches you right now and color the thermometer from the bottom up to it.

5. Out of control
I cannot stop my body. Shouting, throwing, running off.

4. Very upset
Hot face, shaking hands, loud voice, I want to leave or push.

3. Upset
Fast heart, tight fists, bigger voice, hard to think straight.

2. A little bothered
Fidgety, sighing, short answers. Something is not right.

1. Calm
Loose body, easy breathing, ready to listen and work.

Right now I am at level _____ because _____

Color the thermometer every time you check in, using a new copy or a dry-erase pocket. Catching a 2 or a 3 is the whole point: it is much easier to come back down from the middle of the scale than from the top of it.

For non-commercial, education use only