MY OWN BREAK CARDS

Name: ..... Date: .....

Six blank cards for the breaks this child actually asks for: the reading corner, the fish tank, a job in the office, two minutes with the window open. Draw it or write it with the child, in their words, and let them pick which of the six go on their choice board.

what I want to do .....

what I want to do .....

what I want to do .....

what I want to do .....

what I want to do .....

what I want to do .....

A break the child chose is honored more often than a break an adult invented, because the adult can picture it happening in their room.

Cut on the dashed lines, laminate, and add them to the choice board with a Velcro dot.

For non-commercial, education use only